DAMASCUS, Feb. 12 — (P) — "Did you know Abraham Lincoln — whose birthday we celebrate today and my father were honest-to-goodness doubles?"

Even Lincoln himself was taken aback by the likeness between himself and the Rev. James Pelly of Brook County, Va.

"Truth is, the story involves that picture. Father was a circuit rider in Brook County. Being a preacher, people were always asking his counsel on lots of things, even some legal matters."

field lawyer and Father burst out laughing. The lawyer seemed embarrassed and amused; Father said he stammered in bewilderment himself.

He listened to Mr. Atkinson's case but said he couldn't take it," Pelly continued. He leaned over a bit:

The Rev. James Pelly was born in 1818 and died at 69 when a tree fell on him. Two sons still survive: John and Dr. H. J. Pelly, 87-year-old country physician of the village of Hanoverton.

Tributes Paid To Fr. Guenther

Bishop of Diocese Conducts Rituals

Final tributes were paid to the Reverend Father Otto F. Guenther, the pastor of St. Colman's Catholic Church here, who died in Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus, last Saturday after a lingering illness.

The church was filled to capacity for the solemn Catholic services which opened at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning with the Office of the Dead read by nearly 100 priests of the diocese.

Bishop Michael J. Ready of Columbus, offered Pontifical Requiem Mass for Father Guenther. He was assisted by Monsignor Joseph R. Casey, dean of the southern deanery; Father Raphael Rodgers of Chillicothe and a former pastor of St. Colman's Church; Father Edmund McCormick of Wheelersburg; Father Edward Reidy of Wellston and Father Joseph Stanton of Newark, a cousin of Father Guenther. Monsignor Harold O'Donnell of Columbus, delivered the funeral sermon and the Absolution ceremony was conducted by Bishop Ready.

BISHOP READY paid a personal tribute to Father Guenther for his service to the church and the people of the community and his own parish.

Music for the service was by a choir of 20 priests of the diocese directed by Father Thomas Gallen of St. Charles Seminary in Columbus.

Protestants as well as Catholics assembled for the services, for Father Guenther had made many friends both inside and outside the Catholic faith.

Many priests from churches and seminaries and nuns from convents from all over the diocese came here for the services.

Hundreds came to pay their last respects to the man who had given so much of his waning energy to the church and community here, during the last four years, as his body rested in state before the altar Sunday and Monday.

Following the funeral services, the funeral party left immediately for Father Guenther's native town of Glenmont up in the hills of Holmes County where burial is to take place in St. Peter and St. Paul Cemetery.

Father John Linnehan, who came to St. Colman's Church when Father Guenther entered the hospital, is to continue in the pastorate here pending the appointment of a regular priest by Bishop Ready.

Motorcycle Club to Have Race Program

Members of the Silver Rocket Motorcycle Club voted to have another race program this summer at the Fairground here during their meeting in their club rooms Monday evening.

Last summer the club brought some outstanding 'cycle racers in the country for a race here. The meet was considered a success and part of the funds went to purchase a television set for the Children's Home.

The date for the meet this year has been set for August 24. As yet the club has not found a sponsor, but part of the funds will again go to some worthwhile charity in the county.

Sunday, the members of the club plan to have a turkey run and other events, if weather permits. There will also be a sack race, barrel race and treasure hunt during the afternoon. Charles Milstead is in charge of the affair.

Members plan to meet at the club rooms before starting on the turkey run.

Mrs. Betty Williams was elected secretary of the club. She replaced Mrs. Helen Watson who is in the army.

A potluck supper will be held in conjunction with the next regular meeting of the club at the new rooms Monday evening February 25.

Presbyterian Classes Open For Teachers

The first of a series of seven classes designed to train Sunday school teachers for the First Presbyterian Church here was held in the church house Monday evening.

Don E. Wood gave the opening lecture. His subject was "The Great Adventure."

Wood emphasized the practicality of the use of audio-visual education principles by the teachers in conducting their Sunday school classes with demonstrations. And, in developing his subject, he stressed the importance of the trained teacher in the field of Christian education.

The class started at 7:30 P. M. and continued for nearly three hours.

Wood took a special course of training in "Christian Education" under the direction of the Columbus Presbytery last fall. Since then he has delivered lectures along that line to teachers and teachers-in-training at the Presbyterian churches in Bloomingburg and Gahanna.

He also teaches a class of boys and is the Sunday school choister of the church here. A native of Massillon, he came here about four years ago.

THE SERIES of classes in Christian Education for Sunday school teachers, assistants and teachers-to-be is to be spread over seven months—one class a month.

The attendance at the classes is not large, because the course is designed primarily for Sunday school teachers, present and future.

The developing plans for Sunday school at the First Presbyterian Church here calls for about 20 Sunday school classes, ranging from the nursery age pupils on up through adults. Rev. Harold J. Braden, the pastor, said. The number and size, he explained, are limited by the facilities.

At present, he said, there are four classes of women and one of men. Much interest, however, centers on Christian Education for the children, he added.

The minister disclosed that "we hope to have at least 18 or 20 regular teachers and as many more assistants or substitutes." There was no limit placed on the attendance; the classes in Christian Education are open to everyone.

A different phase of Sunday school work is to be taken up at each of the seven monthly sessions, Rev. Braden said. There also will be several different lecturers or teachers.

Farm Leaders Here To Attend Meetings

Albert Cobb, the associate county agent, Robert Glass, the soil conservationist for the Fayette County conservation district, and three members of the county Production and Marketing Administration (PMA) are to go to a district meeting in Xenia Wednesday for an explanation of the 1952 farm production program.

W. W. Montgomery, the county agent, is to attend a similar meeting in Hillsboro on Thursday.

These meetings are being held all over the state during the next two weeks. The Xenia and Hillsboro meetings are the closest to Fayette County.

They are, broadly, another phase of the Extension Service program, Montgomery said.

Representatives of the state Extension Service staff are to outline the production program. It was indicated that the stress is to be placed on increasing production without emphasizing acreage goals. The long time problem of getting production also is slated to receive attention.

The 1952 goals call for a total farm output considerably above the overall 1951 production and about 50 percent more than before the second World War.

Commissioners Order Ditch Improvement

County commissioners Monday afternoon ordered the improvement of Sullivan ditch No. 2 in Jefferson Township and set a date for a meeting to organize a joint board of Fayette and Madison commissioners to have charge of starting the improvement of the Shepherd Joint County Ditch.

Six landowners or representatives of landowners were present at the Sullivan ditch No. 2 hearing, held in the commissioners meeting room in the Court House.

Those present included W. A. Torbett, landowner; Charles Graham, representing Rowena Graham, landowner; Winston W. Hill, attorney representing Mrs. Graham, and Oliver Toops, landowner.

After considerable discussion the commissioners passed a resolution confirming the assessments and ordering the letting of the contract.

County Engineer Charles P. Wagner was authorized to advertise for bids for the improvement of the 1,800-foot ditch and March 10 at 11 A. M. was the time fixed for letting the contract.

The commissioners plan to meet with the Madison County commissioners in the Fayette County Court House at 2 P. M. Feb. 25 to organize a joint board and set a date for viewing the Shepherd Joint County ditch, which extends from Madison County into Paint Township in Fayette County.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—For 165 years the American voters have been in a long and not very energetic struggle to get a word in edgewise in picking a President. This election year is a good time to see why.

The 55 men who met in Philadelphia in 1787 to make the Constitution saw to it the people couldn't vote directly for the President. We still don't. We have to vote for electors who vote for the President.

We can't even choose the candidates. The professional politicians see to that. They do it for us as they will once again at the Republican and Democratic national conventions in Chicago this summer.

Those 55 conservatives of 1787 agreed with George Mason of Virginia who thought "it were as unnatural to refer the choice of a proper character for their chief magistrate to the people as it would be to refer a trial of colour to a blind man."

THE ONLY point they conceded was in letting us vote directly for the members of the House of Representatives. Until the constitutional amendment of 1913 we couldn't vote for senators. The state legislatures picked them.

And the 55 men worked out a plan—it's in Article Two, Section One, of the Constitution—which, it was expected, would let Congress itself pick the President 19 times out of 20. Each state would select a group of electors who'd vote for a President.

If the electors in each state voted for "favorite sons," as it was thought they would, any one candidate would have a time getting a majority of the electoral vote. And when no one did, the House of Representatives would choose the President from among the top runners.

Actually, it worked out that way only twice: In 1800 the House chose Thomas Jefferson over Aaron Burr when both tied in electoral votes; and in 1824 the House named John Quincy Adams over Andrew Jackson when neither got an electoral majority.

But on the important question—who'd elect the electors, and how?—the 55 constitution-makers left that up to each state legislature to decide. In those earliest days, when only one-seventh of the adult males had the right to vote, a few legislatures let the people vote for electors. The rest of the legislatures kept the right to themselves.

Eventually—but it wasn't until Civil War days, and the South Carolina legislature was the last to yield—all the legislatures let the people vote for electors. This change came as more people voted and the big political parties emerged.

THERE HAD been no parties as we know them up through Washington's first two terms. The parties

Want To Join State Patrol?

Now Is Time To Get Application Filed

Want to join the state Highway Patrol?

Now is your chance if you are able to qualify. The first examinations will be conducted Thursday night from 7 to 10 P. M., at the American Legion Hall.

To qualify you must be 21 to 35 years of age, weight at least 165 pounds; be a resident of Ohio; high school graduate or equivalent; have 20-30 vision without glasses; good moral character and be in excellent physical condition.

Applications for a new school for patrolmen may be filed Thursday night, or the night of Feb. 20 at the Legion Hall, where Patrolmen John Wyatt and M. E. Brickles will be on duty.

Applicants must be resourceful, courageous and even tempered.

THE PAY IS $300 monthly to begin.

Patrolmen have two 24-hour periods off each week and 20 days vacation each year, plus 15 days sick leave.

The Highway Patrol supplies each officer with regulation uniforms designed to combine attractiveness and utility. All equipment is furnished free of charge.

An officer of any rank retires finally took over the naming of electors for whom the mass of the people could vote on election day. So now the electors of the party getting the biggest vote in each state vote for that party's presidential candidate.

This would seem to mean the electors have become mere rubber stamps, which they are most of the time, and harmless parts of an old-fashioned election system which we have been too lazy to change. It isn't quite true.

Under the Constitution the number of electors in each state is limited to its total number of representatives in Congress.

So it's possible, because the population of some states is greater than in others, for a candidate to get a greater popular vote—total vote for electors—than the man who wins the election because he got more electoral votes.

It's happened and could happen again. In 1888 the popular vote for Grover Cleveland was 5,540,329 to 5,439,825 for Benjamin Harrison who won the presidency because he got 233 electoral votes to 168 for Cleveland.

To abolish this system would be a slow, tedious process, requiring a constitutional amendment. There's been talk of it. But no action.

It's not an issue this year. In 1952 more attention is being given another question: How to strip the political bosses of some of their control over choosing presidential candidates and letting the people express some preference?

at 55 on a monthly pension that equals at least 50 percent of his monthly salary, based upon his highest salary for five years.

There is ample opportunity for leaders and each officer has an opportunity to prove his leadership.

A member of the Highway Patrol may be assigned to any one of the patrol posts throughout Ohio. The Highway Patrol was established in Ohio in 1933 to enforce the vehicle laws of Ohio.

From a total of 20, the original force in the state, it has grown to 11 times its original size.

The patrol offers rewarding careers to men who qualify.

Because it takes a real man to do a man-sized job, the standards of all the Highway Patrol are high. Patrolmen are respected for their integrity, intelligence and physical fitness.

You Can Touch Up Old Plates

Must Use the Same Color for Job

Yes, you may touch up those old license plates to brighten them up for 1952, providing you use the same color of paint, and make the letters and numerals clear.

R. E. Foley, state registrar of motor vehicles, has given the word to this effect.

His announcement comes in response to numerous inquiries from individuals and organizations throughout the state, all wanting to know what to do about plates that were rusted and beginning to show wear.

Although it will be acceptable by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles for motorists to touch-up their present license tags, it is a state law that if any state license plate is defaced or changed in color the owner will be subject to a heavy fine and a possible jail sentence.

THIS YEAR Ohio converted to using window stickers in place of steel plates to save valuable metal.

The decision to change from steel plates to window stickers was reached by the legislature in their last regular session. Foley said it would have taken over 1,600 tons of high grade steel to continue using metal plates.

New stickers will go on sale March 1 at local deputy registrar's office. Motorists are required to have their registration card and certificate of title upon applying for a sticker.

Election Dispute Hearing Booked

AKRON, Feb. 12.—The election board has accepted the disputed petitions of Representative William H. Ayres and set a hearing for Thursday.

Ayres' opponent in the Republican primary, Robert Guthrie, protested that Ayres' petitions said in only two places he was running in Ohio. Legally, Guthrie insisted, he should have specified "Ohio" three times. Ayres' defeated Democrat Walter B. Huber last year after Huber had served three terms as congressman.

How "big" should government be?

Lincoln was President at a time when the federal government had to take away from its citizens more rights and responsibilities than ever before.

But he didn't like it. He believed, with the writers of the Constitution and the Declaration, that our government should protect people's independence, not push people around. As Lincoln once said: "In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere."

Lincoln never let Americans forget that. He kept reminding the nation that the government's vast wartime powers must be only temporary.

He made powerful enemies. For there are always those who want to see government run things—and run people—permanently.

We have them today. They think up all kinds of reasons why the federal government should take over this or that business, industry or service. They never say they want socialism. Maybe they don't even realize it. But that's actually what they propose.

Most Americans don't want socialism any more than you do. The job is to recognize it—and halt it—no matter what disguise it wears.

Today, more than ever before, our country's greatest need is for men and women, who in November will choose our leaders, to have a fearless adherence to high principles—a trait that distinguished Lincoln.

What Would Lincoln Do If Living Today?

Many of us are wondering what Abraham Lincoln would do if he were living and occupied a position of high authority today.

How would Lincoln, the humble, honest God-fearing man, have faced the intricate and complicated problems of the present?

On this 143rd anniversary of Lincoln's birth, we see a nation which he led through a tragic civil war, confronted by a crisis which no one in his day could then foresee.

There can be no question but that today we face problems involving our nation's future, which offer a challenge to our courage and our willingness to do the unheroic things which our country's need requires. We face a test of our own moral fibre. And before long we shall know whether we are worthy of the things our forefathers sought to do for us.

The big question today is: Have we the courage to face our duty bravely and do what is required of us, or has the trend toward allowing other people, or our government, to handle our problems for us, weakened us to a degree that we are unfit to meet big issues and maybe suffer some hardships in order to do what is right and honest?

There are many people who wonder whether the demands of the present situation should be placed upon us—although they would not phrase their thought quite that way—or upon any people. No doubt all of us wish that we could escape these burdens. Because we have these feelings of doubt, and of reluctance, a fragment that Lincoln wrote out—not for others to read but to put his faith into words for himself alone—may help us now. Here it is:

"The will of God prevails. In great contests each party claims to act in accordance with the will of God. Both may be, and one must be, wrong. God cannot be for and against the same thing at the same time.

"In the present civil war it is quite possible that God's purpose is something different from the purpose of either party; and yet the human instrumentalities, working just as they do, are the best adaptations to effect his purpose. I am almost ready to say that this is probably true; that God wills this contest and wills that it shall not end yet. By His mere great power on the minds of the now contestants, He could have either saved or destroyed the Union without a human contest. Yet the contest began. He could give the final victory to either side any day. Yet the contest proceeds."

Future Economy

Those who scan the economic future of the United States are conscious of the fact that the economic boom has been all but unbroken for 11 years, which is a long period when compared to the cycles which have waxed and waned in the past.

The boom beginning in World War I lasted, with only a minor interruption in 1920, for 15 years. If history repeats with exactitude, this one may have four or five more years to go. The main new factor is sweeping government control at basic economic points, including a bewildering pace of government expenditure and a steady cheapening of the dollar to feed the inflationary spiral. Whether these have the potency to cancel out the ancient down-cycle will be revealed by experience.

We'll Welcome Spring

With the sun higher in the heavens and the days perceptibly longer, can spring be far behind? Well, not more than a couple of months.

Feminine spring raiment is making its appearance in the ads and in the stores. Generally the nation's economy is being geared for a change of seasons.

In the northern half of the country there is a variety of weather, mostly of the February variety, but its very fury heralds an approaching climax. Verily spring will soon put in its appearance, and another winter will be history.

Who said the outlook was wholly dark and gloomy?

A chicken that will be all white meat is now predicted. Sounds like a campaign promise.

Worry over inflation is divided into two classes: When it will end, and what the hangover will be like.

Women Run Better Hotels --

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Housewives who do much entertaining often sigh, "I might as well be running a hotel."

Mrs. Al Tisch agrees. She believes any wife who can entertain well in her own home can run a hotel successfully—if she has the stamina.

"I feel it is far easier to cater to 800 hotel guests than to care for 10 in my own home," said Mrs. Tisch, one of the nation's few woman hotel presidents.

"I often wonder why more women don't embark in the hotel business. We'd have better hotels. They need the woman's touch."

The Tisch's family is a unique four-member partnership. Sayde Tisch, her husband, Al, a former clothing manufacturer, and their two sons—Larry, 28, and

Bob, 25—operate a chain of ten hotels, including the McAlpin in New York and the Traymore and Ambassador in Atlantic City. "None of us draws a salary," she says. "Each takes what he needs."

Mrs. Tisch, a friendly, warm-voiced woman of 51, helps supervise the entire chain. But her own pet project is Laurel-in-the-Pines, a Lakewood, N. J., winter resort. She OK'd its purchase in 1945 after a five-minute inspection.

"I believe in women's intuition," she said smiling. Shortly before this she had sold a children's camp she had operated profitably for ten years. Her family wanted her to retire, but retirement held no charms for her.

"Coddled women age faster and feel useless because their lives seem empty," she said. "Keeping busy may not keep you young—but it makes you feel younger."

Mrs. Tisch is a sturdy advocate of women's adaptability in industry.

"Women are less impatient in handling details," she said, "and details are vastly important in business. I never have found that men resented dealing with a woman. They rather seem to like it."

When she insisted again that women were capable of filling any role in the hotel field, I asked:

"Well, how about the job of house detective?"

"I'm glad you brought that up," she said. "Because right now I'm considering hiring a lady detective. I think she'd be more diplomatic."

Lincoln's Bequest to America

By George Sokolsky

The moral value of commemorating the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, or of any great figure in history, is that a view of history can be taken from a new perspective. Of course, most of us never bother to do that. A celebration might be a holiday from work or double-time. It might be an automobile trip on crowded roads with a toll of dead from drunk driving. The Fourth of July, which should be a solemn day of introspection has become a peak of accidents on our highways.

Yet, the birthday of Abraham Lincoln comes each year to remind us that a nation can fall apart: it can whittle its strength away; it must go through the tools of a spiritual revolution: it must suffer to restore itself.

Lincoln was neither glamorous nor even popular. It was not easy for him to be elected or re-elected. In the end, he was assassinated. His oratory was coldly logical and was, in his time, not regarded as in a class with that of Daniel Webster, who had died only a decade before, or Edward Everett, who also spoke at Gettysburg.

Yet, Lincoln has left a heritage of thought and purpose, on so high a level, that were the day of his birth celebrated by reading from his speeches, proclamations and letters, it could not but improve the attitude of our people toward our country.

In these days, the fourth divorce of a movie queen seems to be more important than the operations of our government and our currency is depreciated without protest. There was moral vitality in our country when the corruption of the Harding administration, once uncovered, aroused a nation to indignation and reduced the stature of a president who failed to safeguard his nation's honor to correct proportions. Today, a more widespread, a more baneful corruption is treated almost as a joke, the butt of the humor of radio and television gagsters, and the president revels in the correctness of his boast that the people will forget about it before election day if their pockets jingle inflated currency.

A nation cannot live by fun nor will it stand monumental in a morass of immorality. Lincoln understood our peril when he said:

"... We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of heaven: we have been preserved these many years in peace and prosperity; we have grown in numbers, wealth, and power as no other nation has ever grown. But we have forgotten God. We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us, and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us.

"It behooves us, then, to humble ourselves before the offended power, to confess our national sins, and to pray for clemency and forgiveness."

It is a curious phenomenon that at the time of the war between the states, both sides, the North and the South, were vitally concerned over the proposition of the existence of the United States and what kind of a country it should be. Lee was as patriotic as Grant, and it is only fitting that recognition should finally have come of that fact at West Point where the portrait of Lee, wearing the grey uniform of the Confederacy, now hangs as a companion to a portrait of Grant. The men of that period were ready to lay down their lives over the nature of the United States. Lincoln went to war over the proposition that the union was indivisible, but he did not content that states were provinces of a highly centralized government. He who fought to maintain the Constitution did not propose also to violate it.

The question of states' rights never meant to Lincoln that the states were to be reduced from sovereignty to administrative centers, first corrupted by the federal government by money grants and then overwhelmed by federal officials. Lincoln was no carpet-bagger, nor did he send carpet-baggers to dominate the south. That curse, from the results of which we are not yet free, came after he was assassinated and that monstrous politician, Thaddeus Stevens, dominated the policy of our government.

"This dollar you're saving... don't you think I should get it?"

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. RUNDESEN

Pain is the natural cry of the body in distress. Many people go to a doctor to have their pain relieved, and the modern doctor is equipped to do this better than it was ever done before.

Some of the most important medical advances have been in relieving the pain of surgery. With modern anesthesia, the majority of people can go through most major operations with very little, if any, really severe pain.

Pain-relieving drugs are also available for injuries. Too often, however, the bystander over-estimates the suffering of an injured person. The actual pain can be slight, even in a severe injury. In one study of badly wounded soldiers, it was found that only a quarter of these men were in severe pain.

Large Doses Not Advised

Large doses of pain-relieving drugs are not advised if the patient is not actually in too great pain. In such cases, the drugs can bring on depression or a tendency toward addiction. Of course, if there is genuinely severe pain, drugs definitely should be given, but they should not be used indiscriminately just because of severe injury.

Of the many ways employed to eliminate pain, the best is to remove or correct its cause. Thus, the pain from a badly infected ingrown toenail is best relieved by correcting the ingrowing nail.

Nerve Block

Sometimes, however, it is necessary to stop pain either with chemicals or surgery. In a "nerve block," the nerve carrying the pain may be blocked off by injecting a local anesthetic. This type of block is very effective in certain injuries, but can prove dangerous unless done by a trained person.

A common practice in relieving pain is the use of drugs that make a person less sensitive to pain. This is called raising the pain tolerance, or threshold. The opiate drugs or their derivatives, such as morphine, act this way. Every doctor will tell you that these drugs must always be given with extreme care, and only to raise the pain tolerance to the right point; otherwise, there is danger of creating an addiction to the drugs.

Recent Method

When there is fear that a narcotic drug will cause addiction, it is possible to inject a local anesthetic or alcohol directly into a vein. This is a recent method that has been very valuable in relieving pain.

Drugs, such as curare, which stop muscle spasms, may be of help in reducing pain brought on by these spasms. Cobra venom has also relieved pain in certain conditions where no other drug was helpful.

Of course, all these drugs are only persons thoroughly familiar

It looks like a "POWER YEAR"

New Horsepower—new Brake Power—and new Power Steering blossom on Buick's ROADMASTER for 1952

MAYBE you've heard—horsepower has hit a new high on the ROADMASTER.

Brake power has done the same.

But today, we'd like to concentrate on the third member of the power trio—Buick's own version of Power Steering, available on ROADMASTERS at a moderate extra cost.

What is this Power Steering like? It's something like a helping hand, something like a "hydraulic slave"—that relieves you of all steering strain, but lets you keep command.

What we mean is this:

Power Steering is handled by a special hydraulic unit—and engineers can design this unit to take over any amount of steering effort—even to a point where the wheel seems to float in your hand.

But in that case, you'd surrender all control to that hydraulic unit—get no steering "feel" from the wheel.

Now suppose you're telling two agile tons of automobile what to do in traffic. We think you'd like to have it know that you're in command.

And—out on the straightaway—we believe that a part of the joy you get from owning a Buick is the sensation of having something alive and eagerly willing beneath your hands.

So we're glad to announce that Buick engineers didn't spoil this thrill. They've kept the fun of driving, and simply eased the effort.

When you're rolling along smooth and straight, it takes almost no effort to keep any Buick on course. It almost steers itself, as every Buick owner knows.

But—when you want to get away from a curb —back into a parking spot—make a turn—Buick's Power Steering comes into action, saves four-fifths of the effort required with ordinary steering. Power Steering does the extra work.

And—in case you wonder what happens if Power Steering gets out of kilter, the answer is nothing. Your Buick steers just as it always has.

That's why we've been saying, "This is Power Steering as it ought to be."

Come in. Try it out. We think you'll agree.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Sure is true for '52

When better automobiles are built

BUICK will build them

Pros and Cons Noted In Vatican Envoy Tiff

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(P)—Controversy is crackling around President Truman's plan to send an ambassador to the Vatican.

The move, yet to be put before the Senate for confirmation, has stirred up a storm of Protestant opposition—and inter-church friction.

"The President has driven a decisive wedge into our national life," said Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam. Scores of other churchmen have echoed these words.

Most major religious publications in the country have entered into the dispute. Roman Catholic writers defend the action; Protestants denounce it.

LITTLE STACK of pamphlets arguing the question have appeared on tables and in the churches and Sunday schools across the land. Lectures and protest rallies on the subject are common.

"The remarkable thing," said Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, "has been the spontaneous and unanimous way in which Protestants everywhere have opposed this unfortunate step."

Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church in America, heads a six-man committee to coordinate opposition among the 29 denominations of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA.

"As Christians and as Americans we repudiate prejudice against Roman Catholics and deplore religious dissension," the council said, but the issue was "Thrust upon us" and is a "threat to basic American principles."

In less restrained quarters, the move has been the basis of broad attacks on Roman Catholicism.

Most of the "pros" and "cons" have centered around this country's deeply rooted tradition: "Separation of church and state."

Here are just a few of the arguments, as advanced by various Roman Catholic and Protestant spokesmen, on what diplomatic relations with the Vatican would mean:

1. Against—It would show religious preference, and give the Roman Catholic church a special status with the U. S. government.

FOR—NO preference is involved. It would simply facilitate relations with a unique church establishment, the only one which desires or is in a position to receive an envoy.

2. Against—By recognizing the pope as head of a foreign state, it would make Roman Catholic priests agents of a foreign power, and put cardinals in the dubious position of having helped elect a foreign sovereign.

For—Priests owe no political allegiance whatever to the pope, but only recognize his guidance in faith and morals.

3. Against—It's absurd to say, as the President does, that the mission would be merely to Vatican state, a tiny, 108-acre strip with about 1,000 residents. Actually, it would be to the pope, as head of a church.

For—True, the Vatican's international significance derives from the pope's moral influence. But foreign policy must consider not only a state's size, but its importance in the world community.

4. Against—If the Vatican has information valuable to the United States in fighting Communism, it could be relayed to our ambassador to Italy, without considerations of diplomatic protocol.

For—If protocol is of little concern, then there is no valid objection to abiding by it to make co-operation flow more smoothly. Effective diplomacy requires clear channels of approach.

5. AGAINST—To send an ambassador to the Vatican on grounds it is an information center would indicate the Roman Catholic church is a network of spies.

For—Espionage is beyond the remotest concern of the church. It is fantastic to imply priests are out counting guns and airfields. Naturally they are aware of sociological conditions of hunger, disease, oppressions, of moral attitudes and needs. It is in this human and spiritual realm the church is informed, and in this realm, the best peace efforts lie.

A State Department spokesman said there "is no question" that having an ambassador at the Vatican will strengthen the United States international position.

"We are not recognizing the pope as the successor of St. Peter," he said, "but as a sovereign who carries a lot of weight in Europe. In these days, when everybody is buying the best gun he can get, you better buy the best peaceful instrument, too."

He said 4 countries, which now have diplomatic representation at the Vatican, "think it's useful, and they're not dummies." He added:

"France, Great Britain—all of them—tried to gain access to the Vatican through the back door, and they all had trouble. We've now found out it doesn't work, so we've come to this as a practical, necessary thing."

Before the entertainment, there is to be a business session, starting at 7:30 P. M. The secretary of the PTA said there was nothing special on the agenda for it.

The evening is to be brought to a close with refreshments of chicken sandwiches and cherry pie and coffee, all provided by the social committee.

Driver Arrested Following Ruse

While State Highway Patrolman M. E. Brickles was cruising along the CCC Highway north of Madison Mills Monday afternoon an automobile he was meeting flashed by at enormous speed.

Brickles turned about and started in pursuit, but the driver of the speeding car apparently had seen the patrol car turn and he promptly applied his brakes amid a cloud of smoke, and slowed down.

"He'll do it again when he thinks he is safe," Brickles mused, so he swung in behind a couple of other cars and slowed down.

Within a brief space the speeding car had started out once more. This time Brickles started in hot pursuit.

The speeder, who proved to be Douglas E. Griffin, Columbus, "utility man" hit a rate of more than 80 miles an hour before he was brought to a halt by the state patrolman, after a several miles chase.

He was ordered into municipal court here, and required to furnish $100 bond for appearance Tuesday.

Lions Bowling Tourney To Start Here Sunday

With most of the detailed plans now taking form, entries for the Lions Club Invitational Bowling Tournament, which is to start Sunday at Bowland here, have started coming in.

The tourney is to open next Sunday with the team events; the following Sunday, Feb. 24, has been set aside for the doubles and singles.

Gene McLean, who is handling the arrangements for the tourney, said present plans call for participation by 32 teams of five members each. On that basis, the schedule for next Sunday has been set up for rolling off the tourney team events in four shifts of eight teams each. The first shift is to take the alleys at noon, the second at 2:30 P. M., the third at 7:30 P. M. and the fourth and last at 9:30 P. M.

IN VITATIONS have been sent to Lions Clubs in four districts. Teams are expected to come from Cincinnati, Middletown, Springfield, Dayton, Lancaster, Columbus, Hamilton, Hebron, Jeffersonville, Jamestown, Bloomingsburg and, of course Washington C. H. Some clubs will have only one team but others may have more. Entries from other cities and towns in the four districts are expected to come in within the next few days.

This will be the third bowling tourney sponsored by the Washington C. H. club, but it is the first invitational affair and covers a much wider area. The district Lions Club tourney was held here in 1949 and 1950. Last year it was held in Dayton.

"This tourney is strictly for fun," McLean said. Trophies are to be presented to the team, doubles and singles champions, but there are to be no cash awards, he added.

Because the tournament is "strictly for fun," sizeable delegations from each of the clubs entering teams are expected to come along.

Besides providing some extra sport for the bowling enthusiasts, the tourney is viewed as a means for bringing Lions all over the four districts closer together and building up a broader field of friendships.

Former WHS Cagers On Big Ten Champion Fraternity Squad

A huge and elaborate trophy, symbolic of the Big Ten basketball championship of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, today adorns the trophy case at the Phi Gamma Delta chapter house at Ohio State University, thanks to the cage skill of six Phi Gams who played in the SCO League before they went to college.

Three of the six are former Washington C. H. High School cagers—Dick Korn and Bill Campbell of the WHS class of 1949 and Norman Pope, who was graduated last June.

The other three SCO boys are Herman Cartwright and Bob Feike of Wilmington, and Jim Shaw of Greenfield.

The other two members of the OSU Phi Gam squad were Jack Creighton of Norwalk, and Harry Scott of Columbus.

Campbell was selected on the all-tournament team.

THE THREE Washington C. H. Phi Gams were so excited over winning the championship when they stopped briefly on their way back to school from Champaign, Ill., where the tourney was played on the University of Illinois floor, that they did not even remember the score of the game that clinched the title for their fraternity.

The Phi Gamma Delta fraternity chapters at the nine active Big Ten schools sent teams to the tourney which was held over the weekend. Only Michigan State College was missing.

Last year the tournament was held at Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill.

The social and fraternal aspects of the tournament were climaxed with a party and informal dance at the Illinois chapter house Saturday night.

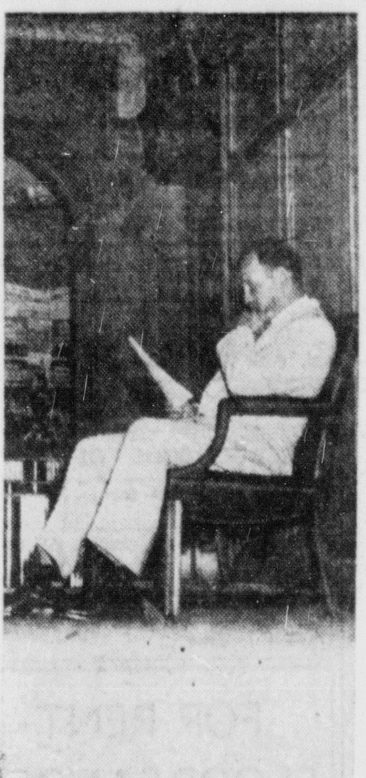

Campbell and Pope are both pledges of the fraternity, since this is their first year at Ohio State. Campbell transferred from the University of Louisville. Korn is an active member in his junior year at Ohio State.

Basketball Game Brings Lad Death

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 12.—A second-year youth collapsed and died Monday while playing basketball in the gymnasium of St. Agnes high school.

Chester County Coroner Preston Shoemaker was unable to determine immediately what caused the death of Joseph J. Andriole Jr. 15.

Paratrooper posted 29 victories to lead the pacers, Nancy Grimm scored 24 trotting wins.

SUPERCHIEF of the Yankees' pitching staff, Allie Reynolds is caught in the middle of his financial headache outside the office of the Yankee brass in New York where Allie reportedly is seeking a salary of approximately $30,000. The right-hander tossed two no-hitters last year and tossed both at the club officials in his bid for a big pay hike. (International)

Middletown Still Tops Ohio Basketball List

COLUMBUS, Feb. 12.—Middletown in Class A and Miller City in Class B held on to the top spots in the weekly Associated Press high school basketball poll.

In fact, 19 of last week's top 20 were still up there.

Wellsville's once-beaten team, triggered by high-scoring Bevo Francis, jumped from 15th to ninth place in Class A as Springfield's oft-beaten Wildcats fell out of the select list after a 78-54 loss to Middletown.

The Middies racked up 21 first place votes and an even 300 points on the 10-9-8-etc. basis. Unbeaten Steubenville and defending champion Columbus East had four first-place votes for runnerup positions in that department.

Hamilton's Big Blue didn't get a first place nod, but wound up second in the voting with 228 points. Hamilton and Middletown stage the second of their Butler County classics Friday night in the Cincinnati Garden, and more than 10,000 are expected to watch the rivals in action.

THE MIDDIES won the previous clash 66-49 before 9,185 fans, but Hamilton hopes to turn the tables. Mayor George Radcliffe has officially proclaimed this "Beat The Middies Week," and basketball rallies are practically an hourly occurrence as the city of 60,000 backs its boys.

This also is a big week in Class B circles as county championship tournaments are scheduled all over the state. Grand Rapids, the Class B king, eased through two Wood County tests last week for an 18-2 record.

Lockland Wayne, No. 2 in the Class B poll, was handed a 36-35 defeat by Delphos St. John, the 1949 champion.

The week's big upset, however, was Mt. Vernon's 46-44 win which halted Newark's 14-game streak. Newark had beaten the

Winter Olympics Set for Thursday

OSLO, Feb. 12.—With or without the cooperation of Mother Nature, the winter Olympics will open Thursday.

That was the final word from the Olympic Organizing Committee and ski officials, who have been plagued with worries about lack of snow. Officials at Norefjell, where the skiing events get underway, are convinced their efforts to haul snow and put it in place with the help of some 300 soldiers, will give the competitors a perfect run. Water is being sprayed over the snow. Sub-freezing temperatures assure a quick coating of ice.

Big First Aid Class To Be Started Here

140 Boy Scouts And Their Leaders To Enroll Here

The largest class to ever take Red Cross first aid training will report Feb. 26 to the Dayton Power and Light Co. auditorium, it was announced today by James Yates, senior instructor in this county.

Yates said the class will be comprised of Boy Scouts and scoutmasters and will be about 140 strong.

All instructors in the county will be on hand to assist in training the Scouts and their leaders.

The instructors who will help teach the class include the following: Yates, Dallas D. Hess, Mrs. Joe Peters, Miss Mary Frances Snider and Miss Nancy Boylan.

Yates said the idea for a class of Scouts and scoutmasters was suggested last fall in a letter from the national Red Cross headquarters. The letter suggested that someone with a sincere interest in both Red Cross work and scouting should take charge of the class.

SINCE YATES has been associated with the Boy Scout movement since 1924, he was a logical choice for the job. From 1924 until 1946, Yates was a scoutmaster and for a time was the Fayette County Boy Scout commissioner.

Yates said he waited for a period when there weren't too many other classes in operation before starting the class for Boy Scouts and their leaders. He called Ray Graft, field executive for the Boy Scouts, last Friday.

Roy Smith, one of the Scout leaders, then called and said the set-up had been completed and was ready to be put into operation.

There is one other first aid class in operation—the one being held for the members of the Good Hope Parent-Teachers Organization. Hess instructs the Good Hope PTO members, who will hold their fifth session on Wednesday.

Girl's Story Being Probed

For sometime Monday afternoon, police questioned a 14 year old girl who had been brought to headquarters by a woman, who told police she believed the girl had been criminally assaulted.

The girl, who resides here, told the police she had been forcibly assaulted by three youths, who had forced her into their automobile.

She changed her story a number of times, until police decided that there was nothing they could believe about the story—except there was no forcible assault.

The crime: if there was one, they stated, was committed in Greene County, as she was with the three youths in their car in that county, Chief Long stated.

It was decided to turn the girl over to the juvenile court for attention.

As she was being taken to the home of her father, she suddenly started running and got away.

Police later picked her up and placed her in custody of her father until she could be taken before Judge Rell G. Allen.

car while they went to a nearby rest room.

While they were gone the officer called the sheriff of Licking County, who hurried to Utica.

WHEN THE MEN returned from the rest room the deputy continued to talk with them and question them until the sheriff drove up and took them into custody.

They denied any wrong doing, but were locked up in the Licking County jail at Newark.

A stooge was placed in jail with them, and engaged them in conversation. They told him how dumb the man was who had stopped them in Utica, because they each carried a gun and when they went to the rest room they "ditched" the weapons.

The Licking County sheriff had the rest room searched and the two guns were found. One of them was the weapon they had stolen from Armstrong at New Holland.

After some questioning, and confronted with the recovered weapons, they admitted crime after crime, including that at New Holland, Salt Creek School House and a service station at Ashville, and two other places in Pickaway County.

Armstrong expressed surprise and pleasure over the close cooperation of the various sheriffs who participated in the case.

D. H. I. A. Program Strongly Endorsed

Kenneth Bush was elected the new president of the Fayette County Dairy Association at the regular board of directors meeting Monday evening in the agricultural extension office.

William Davis was elected vice-president and Barbara Smith was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

POW from Here Works in Bakery In North Korea

Pfc. William E. Wood, the only known prisoner of war from Fayette County, now being held by the Communists in North Korea, is working in the prison camp bakery and is "in as good shape as I was at home," he said in his second letter to his mother, Mrs. Earl Wood, 712 West Market Street.

Just how much of the letter was written under pressure from his Communist captors is conjectural. But, in the light of the atrocities reported from Korea, there is the impression that some of the kind words he had for the Reds might have been "encouraged" by them.

The letter just received by Mrs. Wood is the second from her son since he was captured.

The return address on the letter which was dated Nov. 4, 1951, was: Pfc. William E. Wood-RA15430448 No. 3 POW Camp North Korea

Mom, I am in as good shape as I was at home, or better. I work in the bakery. Mom, tell everyone hello for me and I hope to see them soon. I hope the people get on the ball and get this thing over with. Mom, the Chinese volunteers have fed and clothed us good and I believe they want this to end. I will close for this time, hoping to hear from you all soon. From your loving son, Bill."

Pfc. Wood has four brothers, John Edgar, Richard Darrell, James David, Russell Neil and

Swine Breeders Plan Activities

Banquet in March Among Items Okayed

A program and a full schedule of events were planned during the regular meeting of the Fayette County Swine Breeders and Feeders Association Monday evening.

A swine Banquet was one of the first items to be approved by the officers and directors during the meeting. The banquet is scheduled for Friday evening March 21 at the Washington C. H. Country Club.

In discussing the activities of the association in relationship to the 4-H Pig Club work in the county, it was decided to take all 4-H Pig Club members to the Swine Day to be held Thursday, September 18, at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, at Wooster.

This is a new undertaking for the association, and any proceeds remaining from the banquet, will be used to defray expenses in connection with this program.

ALL PUREBRED breeders were asked to make nominations of one or more litters in the Ohio Swine Breeding Improvement Program. Blanks for this purpose can be secured from W. W. Montgomery, county agent. Litters are to be nominated within ten days after farrowing. Pigs are weighed at the end of 56 days, and 150 days.

Litters qualifying in the end of the slaughter test will be given a rating of "Ohio Commercial" or "Ohio Certified" litters.

Plans for selling hogs on a graded basis will be discussed at the next meeting which will be held Tuesday, March 4. Also at that time, plans will be set up for the annual Swine Tour.

A Swine Institute will probably be held one day during the fall season. Association members will encourage more 4-H Pig Club members to show at the Ohio State Fair.

Officers and directors of the Association are: Charles Andrews, president; Earl Harper, vice-president; C. E. Rhoad, secretary-treasurer; E. L. Saville, Herbert Sollars, Irvin Yeoman, Floyd Hoppes, Robert Cockerill, Elmer Huchison, Ray Fisher, Homer L. Wilson, James Perrill and Robert Haigler, directors.

Cubs Stage Skits At Eastside School

Three dens in Cub Pack No. 20 presented some skits before an appreciative audience of other cubs and parents Monday night in the Eastside School.

The themes—Washington's birthday and Valentine Day—were used in the skits.

Members of Den No. 1, with Mrs. Lewis Walker, den mother, in charge compared living during Washington's days to present day living, using pictures to illustrate the changes which have been made.

Youthful members of Den No. 2, with Mrs. Paul Rodenfels, den mother, in charge, presented valentines to the fathers of the cubs and employed Valentine Day as the theme for their skit.

Den No. 4, with Mrs. Marvin Crosswhite, den mother, in charge, used Washington's crossing of the Delaware as its theme.

Cubmaster Richard Steen was in charge of the meeting. Den No. 4, had the largest number of parents on hand for the get together.
